St. James's, March 14.

THIS Day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, some of the Aldermen, the Sheriffs, and many of the Common Council of the City of London, waited upon His Majesty, (being introduced by the Right Honourable the Earl of Hertford, Lord Chamberlain of His Majesty's Household) with the following Address, Remonstrance, and Petition, which was read by Sir James Hodges, Town-Clerk.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address, Remonstrance, and Petition, of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the City of London, in Common Hall assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE have already in our Petition dutifully represented to your Majesty the chief Injuries we have sustained; we are unwilling to believe that your Majesty can slight the Desires of your People, or be regardless of their Affection, and deaf to their Complaints. Yet their Complaints remain unanswered, their Injuries are confirmed; and the only Judge removable at the Pleasure of the Crown, has been dismissed from his high Office, for defending in Parliament the Law and the Constitution.

We therefore venture once more to address ourselves to your Majesty as to the Father of your People; as to Him who must be both able and willing to redress our Grievances; and we repeat our Application with the greater Propriety, because we see the Instruments of our Wrongs, who have carried into Execution the Measures of which we complain, more particularly distinguished by your Majesty's Royal Bounty and Favor.

Under the same secret and malign Influence, which through each successive Administration has defeated every good, and suggested every bad Intention, the Majority of the House of Commons have deprived your People of their dearest Rights.

They have done a Deed more ruinous in its Consequences than the Levying of Ship-Money by Charles the First, or the dispensing Power assumed by James the Second. A Deed, which must vitiate all the future Proceedings of this Parliament; for the Acts of the Legislature itself can no more be valid without a legal House of Commons, than without a legal Prince upon the Throne.

Representatives of the People are essential to the making of Laws; and there is a Time, when it is morally demonstrable that Men cease to be Representatives. That Time is now arrived. The present House of Commons do not represent the People.

We owe to your Majesty an Obedience, under the Restrictions of the Laws, for the Calling and Duration of Parliaments. And your Majesty owes to us, that our Representation, free from the Force of Arms or Corruption, should be preserved to us in Parliament. It was for this we successfully struggled under James the Second; for this we bled and have faithfully supported your Majesty's Family on the Throne. The People have been invariably uniform in their Object, though the different Mode of Attack has called for a different Defence.

Under James the Second they complained, that the Sitting of Parliament was interrupted, because it was not corruptly subservient to his Designs. We complain now, that the Sitting of this Parliament is not interrupted, because it is corruptly subservient to the Designs of your Majesty's Ministers. Had the Parliament under James the Second been as submissive to his Commands as the Parliament is at this Day to the Dictates of a Minister, instead of Clamours for its Meeting, the Nation would have rung, as now, with Outcries for its Dissolution.

The Forms of the Constitution, like those of Religion, were not established for the Form's Sake; but for the Substance. And we call God and Men to witness, that as we do not owe our Liberty to those nice and subtle Distinctions which Places and Pensions and lucrative Employments have invented; so neither will we be deprived of it by them: But as it was gained by the stern Virtue of our Ancestors, by the Virtue of their Descendants it shall be preserved.

Since therefore the Misdeeds of your Majesty's Ministers in violating the Freedom of Election, and depraving the noble Constitution of Parliaments, are notorious, as well as subversive of the fundamental Laws and Liberties of this Realm; and since your Majesty, both in Honor and Justice, is obliged inviolably to preserve them, according to the Oath made to God and your Subjects at your Coronation; We your Majesty's Remonstrants assure ourselves, that your Majesty will restore the Constitutional Government and Quiet of your People, by dissolving this Parliament, and removing those evil Ministers for ever from your Councils.

Signed by Order,
James Hodges.

To which Address, Remonstrance, and Petition, His Majesty was pleased to return the following Answer.

I Shall always be ready to receive the Requests, and to listen to the Complaints of My Subjects; but it gives Me great Concern to find that any of them should have been so far misled as to offer Me an Address and Remonstrance, the Contents of which I cannot but consider as disrespectful to Me, injurious to My Parliament, and irreconcilable to the Principles of the Constitution.

I have ever made the Law of the Land the Rule of My Conduct, esteeming it My chief Glory to reign over a Free People. With this View I have always been careful, as well to execute faithfully the Trust reposed in Me, as to avoid even the Appearance of invading any of those Powers which the Constitution has placed in other Hands. It is only by persevering in such a Conduct, that I can either discharge My own Duty, or secure to My Subjects the free Enjoyment of those Rights which My Family were called to defend: And while I act upon these Principles, I shall have a Right to expect, and I am confident I shall continue to receive, the steady and affectionate Support of My People.
